WAR AND PEACE FALLACIES

"Veni, vidi, vici" cannot be said of the Pax Special which has just made a flying trip through Canada. It was a trip fraught with insults, boycotts and other such genteel amenities and courtesies which only those passionately in love with a cause could endure. The Pax Special was composed of noble women, each of whom had achieved distinction in her respective vocation and profession. As a body of women they were different, unique. They were European, continental, cosmopolitan and emancipated. They represented the New Woman who has accepted all the privileges as well as responsibilities of the new status to which women are attaining in this day of ours.

A very good-sized audience, which practically filled Massey Hall, listened with rapt attention to their utterances. The audience was not the typical cold and staid crowd who attend meetings because it is the right thing to do. They seemed an intellectual and thinking audience. They came anticipating to hear a message, a new word on peace. The women spoke, but did they have that new message, that new word? We regret to say that they did not. The meeting was stimmungsvoll. It was emotional and at times the speakers, some of whom are fine orators, even succeeded in rousing the audience to pitches of enthusiasm. But it failed to make a lasting impression or to leave a well reasoned plan or solution in the minds of the audience as to how peace could be attained—how law could be made a substitute for war. Nevertheless, in spite of this inherent defect of the Pax Special, we strongly believe in meetings and other forms of propaganda for peace, especially in these days when in all countries there is manifest evidences, not of reduction of armaments, but increasing of armaments.

The real battlefields of war are in the minds of people. It is here that the battles are fought, before they actually take place. If this is true, then it must be evident to all concerned in preventing the next war that public opinion must be changed. This can only be done in times of peace, which in the past have only meant lulls between wars, during which the nations prepared to revenge their old and aggravated grudges. If the times of so-called peace are not times for peace, education and the advocacy of peace, during war time is regarded as treason, then, we ask, when is the time to advocate that ideal which every religion upholds and every prophet has proclaimed in the name of God? When will there come an end to that dualism in religion and life, when men shall cease believing one thing to be true and deport themselves directly contrary to their beliefs? If we believe in peace, then it is time to begin to destroy the popular fallacies which the masses of people seem so universally to believe about war and peace. A pacifist is one who believing in peace, makes a conscious endeavour during times when his country and the world are ostensibly at peace to enlighten public opinion and to clear away the cobwebs in men's minds about war and peace.

One of the most popular fallacies in war and peace thinking is that war will always be until there have been eliminated from human nature and international relations, those causes which make wars. If this were true, war would be forever inevitable and peace forever impossible. H. G. Wells concludes his Outlines of History with the statement: "Civilization is engaged in a race between education and catastrophe." In this race catastrophe is in the lead and gaining over education. If we have to wait to get rid of all the causes of war before ending war, then we fear war will eliminate us before we can eliminate war.

The causes of war are too complex and too deeply ingrained in human nature for the social and economic organization of the world to hope to be able completely to eradicate them prior to the bringing in of peace. These causes belong to the instincts of human beings, such as pugnacity, hate, jealousy. They are the outcome of ignorance and prejudice of economic imperialism and the desire for markets, for new fields of raw material and oil. There is only one way, however, to bring about peace and that is to outlaw war, even as the civilized world has outlawed slavery, prostitution, duelling, piracy and drink. It is true these evils have not been completely eradicated, but what is true is that they have been practically eradicated and reduced to a minimum, and this was accomplished not by the elimination of those emotions and instincts which lie at the bottom of the evils mentioned, but through international recognition of these evils as intolerable and their outlawry from the code of decent living and behaviour. So it will have to be with war. Men and women the world over will have to declare that war is a great illusion. That in it and through it no one wins and everyone loses. That aside from its brutality it settles nothing as to the right or wrong of the cause at issue. That it is an outworn, antiquated, stupid method of settling disputes between nations, even as first fighting and duelling are stupid ways of settling disputes between individuals. The three steps in the process of substituting law for war are, firstly, to outlaw war by international decree, secondly, to draw up an internationally sanctioned code of law that would outlaw war and specify the laws governing the relation of nation to nation. Thirdly, the establishment of a world court whose decrees would be final, to which all the nations in dispute would be compelled to bring their disputes just as individuals are compelled to bring their disputes to a county law for adjudication, and are prevented from fighting out their differences by fists and guns or sabres in their back yard or on some open field. This court would be sovereign by virtue of the power acceded to it when it is constituted by the nations subscribing to follow its decisions.

The outlawry of war and the peaceful legal settlement of international differences would give the world a chance to begin to educate itself toward the gradual elimination of the causes of war. The causes of war are in many respects like the causes of disease. They cannot be isolated nor eliminated. Yet mankind has been taught how to protect itself against the ravages of hostile bacteria. This has been done by teaching people how to build up their powers of resistance and how to live so as to avoid infection. So with the causes of war. Under conditions of peace we can study the causes of war and learn how to build up our powers of resistance and how to avoid infection.

There is another fallacy about war and peace thinking, which requires correction. It is the popular belief that "Man is a fighting animal and you can't change human nature." Every word in this statement is an error. Man is not a fighting animal. If he were, then God would have created him with claws and fangs, and horns and a skin like an elephant's and the strength of a lion. Man has none of these artifices, excepting one—his intellect, which if prostituted and abused can be more deadly than all the animal aids used for war in a jungle world, where the law of life is eat or be eaten.

Man by the consummate use of his intellect has learned how to control nature for his own ends and is gradually learning more, for the sake of making life more intelligible and happier. It is the prostitution of science in such ways as the Ray of Death that reduces us to the level of the animal brute instead of raising us as science has by great medical and physical discoveries and inventions to a mastery over the things of nature.

every friday

The Canadian Jewish Chronicle laments the fact that no young son of Canada is going to the Jewish Theological Seminary or the Hebrew Union College to study for the rabbinate. We know better. A certain youth of this vicinity is planning to attend on a scholarship from a certain congregation, but we can't give out the news to the Chronicle or run his picture until June 15, when we know for sure that he has been accepted. However, he is such desirable material that we are reasonably certain the school will accept him, even not considering the dearth of student timber. As it is, we shouldn't be surprised to see officials coming after him to have him in good time for September.

Among the other literary contributions to the same issue of the Chronicle is one which tells in sixteen inches of paid space where Montrealers can buy their Ford cars. . . . Well, after all, have business and pleasure anything in common, or business and strict ethics? According to the policy of the Chronicle you can take your business out in display advertising of Ford cars, and your pleasure in roasting Henry Ford, the rishis ponem, in your opinion-moulder, the editorial offices. Also you can take your business in the form of a cheque from the Ford dealer and at the same time elsewhere indulge your passion for ethics in articles against the Ford's Dearborn Independent and its attacks on Jews. Some day we hope to make the boss do some of this by accepting the Ford advertising dangled frequently before the advertising department. We'll do our part by continuing to tell what a low-life Ford is, anyway.

Editorially Saturday Night, another acquaintance, is a great patriot, a vigilant Canada-for-the-Canadians expounder. It would never tell its readers to buy in Buffalo and to smuggle the stuff back home. But at the same time, its left hand accepts money from Buffalo stores in return for advertising that invites Canadians over where goods are sold more cheaply than at home. Perhaps it is an oversight on the part of Saturday Night that the advertising carries no postscript urging Canadians to declare their goods in toto to the customs officials. Or maybe this silence is a subtle compliment to subscribers implying that they always do the right thing as loyal subjects.

In comparison, the attitude of Canada Running Horse has the finer aroma, for the way it eludes a suggestion that it gives any support to Toronto in the role of a big betting center. Betting papers have a huge circulation here and the Running Horse itself offers free use of its telephone service which gives information over fourteen main city lines and other long distance lines to the surrounding country. But in its confession of faith Running Horse announces itself "a daily newspaper published for the information and convenience of lovers of the thoroughbred horse." It goes on to affirm that its news is not given as "inducement, invitation, encouragement, consideration to or tending to influence any action, whether it be betting by any reader or any other person or not. The words 'given,' 'chosen,' 'selected' are used in reference to races already run as an illustration of the intelligence of Running Horse personnel and for no other purpose." The foregoing entitles this sleek little racing paper to a choice place, even further confirmed on its word that "if there is any betting on races other than on legal race tracks, we are not cognizant of it."

Dr. Charles J. Hastings, medical health officer of Toronto, recently made the statement quoted in the newspapers, that "the sow that is washed will return to wallow in the mire." This "sow" Dr. Hastings referred to was the Ward and the "mire" was the dirt which he believes the foreign element living there must have in order to be happy. The health officer's conclusion was that as long as the foreign element is admitted, there will be slum conditions here. It is plain that at least part of the people Dr. Hastings criticized were Jews and yet not a single letter reached the editor's mail box in complaint from the defenders of the race. Was it that their silence gave assent or that they won't take issue with anything less than a local playwright, who they think is presenting Jewish life in a bad light?

Your Curtains

EVERY HOUSEWIFE who takes pride in the appearance of her window draperies, yet despairs at the difficulty of stretching them to proper size and shape after washing, will be interested in the service rendered by our curtain department. When they come in, the curtains are first carefully measured. Then they are washed with pure soap, being handled throughout this process with utmost gentleness. While still wet, the curtains are placed in pairs on a new and ingenious drying frame which stretches them perfectly even and flat at their exact original size. This frame holds all four sides whether they are straight or ornamental, so that the edges are perfectly parallel and even the corners absolutely square. Curtains cleaned and finished in this establishment are returned shaped as perfectly as when new. We know that our work will please you. Telephone us and we will send for your curtains.

REVIEW JUNIOR SECTION:

I would like to join the Cousin Family of the CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW.

WELCOME, COUSINS!

A word of welcome to two new cousins, Billie Baron, Calgary, Alta., 8 years old, and Saul Halpern, 68 Major Street, Toronto, who seem to be just the kind of active cousins that we want. Come along, girls and boys! We expect lots of new-comers, now that school is almost over. Suppose all the old cousins send us a letter and introduce new members who will, in their turn, each send us a letter. Won't that fill the Mail Bag? Suppose we do it!

364 Annette Street,

Toronto, May 16, 1924.

Dear Cousin Judith, Cousin David and all my other Cousins:

I thank you for the honourable mention, and I take the surprise as best I can. I have a mistake to correct in my Passover story. If you will take notice, you will see that I mentioned that the guests had ice-cream and soda-water at the party. I am very sorry I mentioned that, but I forgot it was Passover week. I hope you will excuse me, but I will see that I never, never, make such a mistake again. I will try to do better in the next story I write. This isn't a very cheerful letter, but it is just an apology. I am going to try and write something cheerful now.

We are having examinations in school, to pass, and we have had three already. They are Literature, Composition and Geography. I got 87 marks out of 100 in Literature, 81 marks out of 100 in Composition, and I don't know what I got in Geography, because we just had it this morning. But I hope I don't get any less than I did in my other two subjects. I am inviting two girls from the Children's Home on Annette Street for tea to-morrow night. They are leaving with their father for California Sunday morning. Daddy took us out for a ride in High Park to see the animals. We saw some baby lambs; they were darlings. The fawns looked so timid with their big, brown eyes shining like two stars.

Cousin Judith, I wonder if you could write down all the cousins' names, as I would like to count them and see how many we have.

I will close now, with love to you and Cousin David and all the Cousins.

I remain,

Your loving Cousin,

Diana Cohen.

P.S. -I haven't the least idea what could be our next competition. Have you?

Dear Diana:

Your postscript acted as a gentle reminder, for really we ought to be thinking about another contest. What shall it be? I have an idea tucked away where I usually keep my ideas, but I shan't tell you a thing about it until I hear what you would like. Suppose you, and all the other cousins, tell me what sort of a competition you'd enjoy best - do it now! You must let me know how the rest of the exams were. What class are you in? Was your tea-party nice? The last time I visited the Zoo, I happened to pass the lions (they were in their cages!!!), just at feeding time. The keepers were bringing their food to them, and as they smelled it they roared and raged up and down their cages fiercely. And they did look so very, very strong. . . . Do write again soon, a nice long letter . . . as long, if not longer, than this one.

Cousin Judith.

P.S. -But never, never, never write on both sides of the paper again . . . the Printer Man likes not paper that hath writing on either side. Verbum sap . . . (ask your Latin teacher what that means).

Dear Cousin Judith:

I guess I do not have to say what school is like this month and also next, with final examinations coming off every little while.

I also take piano lessons and am having an examination in that, besides a recital. Therefore I am rather busy.

An Revoir.

Fanny Flemina.

Dear Fanny:

Well, you certainly seem to be plenty busy enough, with all those exams. Won't you let us know how you make out? And tell us what you played at the recital. I am really desperately sorry about your prize. I don't know what the trouble is, but you should receive it any day now. I am so sorry. Come again, and let's have a longer letter.

Cousin Judith.

Dear Saul Halpern:

We are glad to welcome you to our page, more especially because you sent us some nice poems and riddles, and we like cousins who help to keep our Section bright and cheery. What would you like for our next prize competition? Think of something interesting, because now that school is closing, all our cousins will have heaps of time to give to the Family (meaning us). So come again, Saul.

Cousin David.

Calgary, Alta.

Dear Cousin Judith:

We have got the REVIEW for the past three years, and for the past two years I have read the Junior Section with very much pleasure, and so now I have picked up enough courage to join the REVIEW. I must leave now, because I have no more time.

Your brand new cousin,

Billie Barron.

P.S. -I am sending in some riddles and their answers.

Dear Billie:

I shall let you into a very secretful secret, Billie. Ever since we have had our Junior Section, I felt that we ought to have had a Billie-Boy cousin and then, after weeks of thinking that thought, along came your letter. Which makes things just exactly all right. I think you are the second cousin from Calgary, but something must have happened to the other one, because she has not written us of late. I wish she would. (Perhaps she will, now.) Are you going to visit us often Billie, and will you let us have some more riddles? Do.

Cousin Judith.

203 Bathurst Street,

Toronto, May 5, 1924.

Dear Cousin David:

As you came to discuss about the boys not thinking in school, I would like to test them. Here is a puzzle which is open to all the cousins. These letters put together in their right order equal a number of names and one letter in each name equals a name which is very interesting in the Jewish history. Solve the puzzle and send in the names and name. If a boy solves it right, I am wrong. If a girl solves it, I am right. Now, dear Cousins, set your cap of ideas a-thinking and see if you are the lucky one. Ta-ta! I hope David is the lucky one.

Your Cousin,

Himmie Dime.

Dear Cousin David:

Through you answering my letters, I see that you are sometimes in the studio. Do you think I would be permitted in the studio? If so, I could answer some letters same as you do. Thanks very much for answering my letters.

Your frank Cousin,

H. Dime.

Dear Cousin Bepest:

One of our cousins suggested all the cousins' names should be printed in the REVIEW. I would suggest to write their names and addresses.

Your Cousin,

H. DIME.

Dear Himmie:

If it weren't for the terrible awe inspiring ogre that guards the entrance to the little tiny room that we call our office, we would say to you "Yep, C'mon up!" But we daren't, for that horribly fierce dragon-like creature just simply will not allow us any visitors. . . so for the nonce I guess the best way you can visit us is via the letter route. And . . . travel this way often.

Cousin David.

Cabri Sask.,

May 5, 1924.

Dear Cousins David and Judith:

I believe I can say that I am acquainted with Cousin David, but as to Cousin Judith, why I have to now start to form a friendship between her and I.

I was so delighted as well as surprised to see the first part of my story on your page. I really had begun to despair and to think that it had found its way to the w.p.b., but as it hasn't I feel encouraged and will try again soon.

I have read your page since it was started and certainly have enjoyed it, especially the articles from Beano.

I fear that I am too late for the Passover contest, but shall try the next one.

Wishing the Club every success I will close.

Your Cousin,

E. M. G.

P.S. The people in "Coming to Canada" are not creatures of imagination, but real live folks living to-day but getting on in life.

Dear E. M. G.:

I hope you do write again soon. Let's have plenty of stories and original work from you. I had an idea that your characters were real, because they were very human. Now that you are my friend, as well as Cousin David's, may I ask you some questions? Though, really, I don't know where to begin, because we're all curious about your town of Cabri. Is it a town or a city or just a settlement? I looked for my ragged old red atlas to locate it, but, alas and alack! that atlas was no more. Which means that you must take its place! Come again soon.

Cousin Judith.

May 11, 1924.

Dear Cousin Judith:

I have not written you a letter for some time, but need it be said that I am back again?

Have you ever felt that you did not know what to do with yourself? Out side, to-day, a drizzling rain is falling. This morning I came across an old copy of "Little Women," by Louise Alcott. Although I read "Little Women" several years ago, I (not having anything else to do) settled down and read it again.

Again I smiled as I read of merry "Jo." Again tears dimmed my eyes as I read of the good, shy, gentle "Beth".

Again I lived with the four sisters, sharing their joys and sorrows, happy when they were happy and sad when they were sad. As I laid down the book I decided to write to you.

Although I like the "Book Lovers' Nook," I wish to suggest something. Instead of sending lists of books, I suggest we have a discussion on books. That is, one of the cousins is to be asked to send in a letter telling about some book and let's have a different cousin do it every week.

Cousin Judith, won't you please "back me up" in my request. You and Cousin David could decide which cousin should do it one week and which the next etc.

I remain, a devoted Cousin,

Fannie Fleming.

Dear Fannie:

I remember feeling just exactly as you did one evening years ago, when I was all alone in the house . . . and picked up an old thumb-marked copy of "Little Men." Story-book friends can be very good company, indeed, as you have found out. An excellent idea that, about our "Book Nook for Discussions." Would you I wonder, start the ball rolling, by submitting something for next week? Then perhaps Himmie or V.M.G. (Where, oh! Where, oh! has he been all these weeks?) will be ready with something for the week after. Volunteers, cousins. 'Tis a good notion . . . doth it please the company?

Cousin Judith.

P.S. -I hope you like your prize . . . many apologies for the delay.

BED-TIME FOR FLOWERS

Flowers, like little human beings, go to sleep, but, unlike some children, they will sleep in the afternoon without having to be coaxed. Different flowers have different sleeping hours. The common waterlily retires about four o'clock in the afternoon, the daisy and buttercup much later in the evening. Tulips and crocuses, being susceptible to climatic changes, go to bed as soon as the heat of the day is over and the evening chill sets in. The goat's beard, something like a dandelion and growing in tall grass, shuts up its flowers at noon and does not open them again till the next morning. For this reason the flower is sometimes called "John-go-to-bed-at-noon."

How would you feel if you were asked at a spelling match to spell the longest word in the English dictionary? It is electrophotomicrography and contains 23 letters. A very close runner-up is honorificabilitudinit, which has 22 letters.

WINNIPEG

In honour of Miss Anne Granofsky, a June bride-elect, Miss S. Millstein and Miss T. Pollock entertained at a miscellaneous shower during the week end, at 727 Stella Avenue. The house was decorated with streamers and wedding bells, and the table was centred with roses and carnations. Over forty guests were present.

Mrs. Harry M. Berman, 229 Home Street, has as her guest her sister-in-law, Miss Sophie B. Berman, of Minneapolis, for a few weeks.

TALMUD TORAH

The Board of Directors of the Hebrew Free School on Flora Avenue gave a banquet on Sunday evening, June 1, to the friends of the Institution, in connection with the inauguration of the normal training classes, which will be started at once for the purpose of training teachers to take charge of the various schools in the city, and in the course of the next few years in all the Canadian West. The children attend the public schools and then the Free School for the study of Hebrew, some being present from 4.30 to 7 o'clock in the evening, and others from 7.30 to 10 o'clock. There are six branches besides the Main School. S. A. Berg, chairman, presented a golden key to A. W. Myers, who had given the money necessary to open a new branch on Magnus Avenue. Mr. Myer is presenting the Ladies' Auxiliary with a ring valued at $1,000 for the purpose of raising funds for the school. Addresses were delivered in Yiddish by H. L. Weidman, N. Kushnir, principal of the school, Rev. I. Hurvitz, and Rev. L. L. Kahanovitch, rabbis of the city, I. Wohlgelehnter, of Toronto, and M. J. Finklestein.

Mr. Finklestein spoke in English, and said that the Hebrew Free School should not be classed as a charitable institution, as the Orphanage, the Old Folk's Home, and the others maintained by the Jewish people of the city, but was a necessary duty in the interests of religion.

A. W. Myers started off with a subscription of $500, and was followed with subscribers who gave $50 and $25 each, until a total of $1,760 was realized. Mrs. M. Weidman thanked the members on behalf of the Women's Auxiliary. Recitations in Hebrew were given by Ben Zion Steinfeld and Edith Polsky. The ladies served a banquet. The teachers of the Talmud Torah sent messages in Hebrew through Mr. Krandal, congratulating the president, S. A. Berg, and the board of directors.

A banquet was held on June 3 by the board of directors of the Talmud Torah, at the Marlborough Hotel, in honour of A. W. Myers, who is leaving on a three months' trip to Palestine.

At the last meeting held by the board of directors, June 2, in the auditorium of the Talmud Torah, Mr. S. Shore, chairman of the Paint and Clean-up Campaign, reported that $2,500 was realized.

In the Y.M.H.A. Tennis Club, Winnipeg and Western Canada have the first organized Jewish Tennis Club. A small club house will add to the social life of the Club. J. P. Weidman is the president, and Dr. S. H. Churchill, secretary-treasurer.

SHAAREY ZEDEK SISTERHOOD

The annual meeting of the Shaarey Zedek Sisterhood was held on Wednesday afternoon, June 4. A talk was given by Mrs. E. L. Lennox on "Japanese Women and Modern Times," and a piano selection by Miss Rose Portigal.

Mrs. Heppner was re-elected president; other officers and committees, honorary president, Mrs. M. Finkelstein; president, Mrs. Max Heppner; first vice-president, Mrs. S. Rodin; second vice-president, Mrs. M. H. Abramovitch; recording secretary, Mrs. N. L. Green; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. F. Cohen; treasurer, Mrs. N. J. Weidman; advisory board, Mrs. M. Finkelstein, Mrs. A. H. Aronovitch, Mrs. A. Levinson, Mrs. J. Finkelman, Mrs. P. Stephany, Mrs. J. Sternberg, Mrs. M. J. Finkelstein, Mrs. D. Rosen, Mrs. B. Levi, Mrs. M. Goldstone; chairman of committees, house, Mrs. M. H. Abramovitch; hospital, Mrs. H. J. Samuel; Sunday School, Mrs. A. Cohen; membership, Mrs. L. Churchill; friendly visiting, Mrs. J. Adler; Girl Guides, Mrs. J. Wilder; social welfare, Mrs. C. J. Bermak; Juvenile Court, Mrs. A. M. Shinkane. The treasurer's report was submitted by Mrs. J. Sternberg; the membership report, by Mrs. L. Churchill, indicated the total, 205. Mrs. Shinkane, reviewing the work of the Juvenile Court committee, said that during the past year there were only nine cases of any serious nature.

The report of the hospital committee was submitted by Mrs. H. J. Samuel, and that of the house committee by Mrs. Abramovitch.

Mrs. S. Rodin reported for the entertainment committee, Mrs. S. Cohen for the Sunday School, Mrs. J. Adler for the Mothers' Allowance and Mrs. Wilder for the Girl Guides.

NATIONAL ORIGINS PLAN TO BE PUSHED IN SENATE

Senate Republicans Propose Reduction to One Per cent. Quota

Washington (J.T.A.)—A most unexpected development has occurred in the Senate upon which public opinion was placing its only hope for a more liberal immigration attitude. The leading Senate Republicans, at a special caucus this morning, voted 22 to 12 in favour of amending the pending Senate bill by reducing the percentage from two to one per cent. of 1910. This would cut immigration under the bill exactly one-half, or to 120,229.

The national origins plan, Senator Reed's amendment to the present bill, providing for the apportionment of the quota in ratio to the national origins of the entire population of the United States in 1920, and calling for a maximum immigration, on that basis, of 300,000 annually, will be pushed for passage, according to the decision arrived at by the caucus with but one change. The maximum number will be reduced to 150,000 annually.

Senator Wadsworth, of New York, admitted that he had voted in favour of these changes, and, with reference to the national origins plan, stated that although, in his opinion, it reduced east and south European immigration, it "is the fairest plan to all concerned because it allows nationals to enter in proportion to the total number of like nationality who have in the past immigrated to the United States, as determined by their native origin."

Senator Reed, immediately following the caucus decision, introduced it in the Senate in the form of an amendment to the pending bill, and it may come up for vote this week, perhaps, even to-morrow or Wednesday.

According to Reed's plan, the national origin of the entire population in the United States in 1920, which year is chosen because it is the last census year, and, therefore, the latest available source of information concerning nationalities, is to be determined by a joint board consisting of the Secretaries of Labour, State and Commerce. These shall proclaim, not later than April 1, 1926, the results of their investigation, which, beginning with July 1, 1926, shall be the basis of admission into the United States. Each nationality is to be entitled to the ratio or percentage of the total number of such nationality, as determined in the foregoing manner.

Since the Jews and Italians did not begin to emigrate to this country until recent years, and as the predominating national origin of the total population of the United States is English and German, or Nordic, the Jews and Italians, as well as other east and south European peoples will be cut down to the lowest number admissible, and the Nordics will receive the highest number. Under the national origins plan, Poland will be reduced from approximately 30,000 to 4,500; Russia from 25,000 to 4,000; Roumania from 7,500 to 500; Lithuania from 2,500 to 550; Italy from 42,000 to 6,000. On the other hand, the number from Great Britain and Ireland will be increased from 77,000 to 91,000; and Germany will still have 22,000.

The reduction for the Jews on the one per cent. of 1910 which the caucus decided should be in effect until July 1, 1926, when the national origin method would begin to operate, is not quite as bad as under the national origin plan, even though the total annual immigration is less. This is due to the large proportion of east European nationalities that entered America in 1910.

No exemption for close relatives was provided by the caucus. Senator Colt, Chairman of the Senate Immigration Committee, and a friend of immigration, confessed to the J.T.A. correspondent, a few days ago, that the growing prejudice against immigration in the Senate was "simply terrible" and that nothing seemed possible to stem the tide.

It was rumored here to-day that Secretary of State Hughes stated that he would resign if the Senate accepted the Johnson Bill with the Japanese exclusion provision. When a test vote was taken on the Japanese exclusion question to-day, the vote was 76 for to 2 against.

farewell sermon during the services on Monday, June 9. Rabbi Siegel, who had resigned in October, 1923, said that he was leaving to continue his Semitic studies at Yale. He urged a better understanding of modern congregational work and the position of the synagogue in the community. The Rabbi, in discussing the type of member who is always advising economy in the synagogue, said that it is better to be reckless with money in the synagogue than outside of it.

Rabbi Siegel aided the congregation to organize the Women's Auxiliary, the

STRANDED EMIGRANTS CROWD AMERICAN CONSULATES FOR VISAS

Appeal Made to Secretary of Labor for Admission to Those Possessing Visas

London (J.T.A.) The American Consulates in London, Paris and Warsaw are being besieged by numbers of prospective emigrants and stranded immigrants, who are inquiring for information concerning the possibilities of obtaining visas for America. The only answer given by the Consular officials is "Nothing known, no instructions received."

Great consternation and excitement is prevailing among the stranded refugees, mostly Jewish, who are in the various ports of Europe:
Southampton, Antwerp and Riga, some of whom already in possession of American visas. They live in the fear of having to face deportation to Russia or the other countries they came from, the steamship companies having declared that the refugees will have to clear the company hotels if there is no possibility for them to proceed shortly on their voyage.

The Jewish emigration aid societies are being urged to relieve the situation of the despairing refugees. The Federation of Ukrainian Jews in London, which is engaged in taking care of the Ukrainian refugees, has cabled to day to the United States Secretary of Labor Davis, requesting him to see to it that those immigrants who are already in possession of American visas, and who are in the various European ports, should be permitted to land in America.

Sounds almost too simple

The fact that soft water, pure soap, fresh air, separate washings and sunshine form the basis of our "family wash" system seems almost too simple, yet it is the fact. Five different services, taking your family wash to five different stages—wet wash—wet wash, flat work ironed—dry wash—dry wash, flat work ironed, and the old reliable "semi-finished"—are offered for your choice. Prices differ, but all five are ridiculously moderate. Phone to-day and we'll come right away.

MARRIAGES

Foster—Shekter

The wedding was solemnized on Tuesday at the Men of England Synagogue, when Evelyn, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Shekter, was married to Charles Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Foster. The bride wore a French gown of ivory satin and duchess lace, studded with pearls. Her veil was arranged in banded effect with pearl and rhinestones, high French comb and rose-point applique lace with orange blossoms and white heather. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Mrs. Irving Eisen, of New York, sister of the bride, wore a blue gown studded with pearls and rhinestones and carried a sheaf of American Beauty roses. Miss Eva Foster, maid of honour, wore a maize chiffon gown and carried a shower bouquet of tea roses. Mrs. L. Shekter, mother of the bride, wore orchid chiffon embroidered in rhinestones and a corsage bouquet of mauve sweet peas and smilax. Misses Celia Pasternak, Etta Bochner and Mena Rogul were bridesmaids. The groom was attended by Messrs. Sam Vereshack and Sam Stork, best man. The groomsmen were Messrs. Irving Berenson, Lou Eisen and Jack Freedland. The ushers were Manning Stone, Irving Stone, Lou Menkes, Monty Jacobs, Dave Bloom, Harry Farber. After the ceremony a dinner was served to 160 guests and dancing followed. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Charles Wexelblatt, of New York, gowned in mauve lace and chiffon; Mrs. A. Schwartz, of New York, in green chiffon; and Mrs. H. Shapiro, of New York, in tangerine chiffon, wearing corsage of sweet peas; and I. Rosenfeld, of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Foster left on a motor trip through the States, the bride travelling in a boyish suit of navy poret twill with silver fox fur and maize hat and veil. On their return they will live at Osgoode Mansions, Palmerston Boulevard.

Cohen - Saltz

At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Spiegel, Grace Street, the marriage was solemnized on Tuesday, June 3rd, by Rabbi Saltz, of their youngest daughter, Lola, to Thomas S. Cohen, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Cohen, Toronto. The bride, who was given away by her parents, wore a gown of beaded georgette over which fell a lace veil hemmed with seed pearls and held by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The bride's mother received her guests wearing a black canton crepe gown embroidered in steel cut beads. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Harry Klein, of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. I. Rotenberg, of Rochester, N.Y. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Cohen left for New York and Atlantic City.

us to the level of the animal brute instead of raising us as science has by great medical and physical discoveries and inventions to a mastery over the things of nature.

The pacifist stands for the raising of man to his highest intellectual, spiritual and creative levels for the sake of a happier world.

As for the fallacy that you can't change human nature, we say that if this were true, how could we explain that you and I are the direct descendants of the savage who ran naked and wild in the jungle and was only one step removed from the animal. If human nature can't be changed, then why education, the school, the church, etc., etc.? The fact is that the only thing about us that can be changed is our human nature, provided we deliberately set out to change it. Human nature has been changed in endless ways and one further way in which we must change it is to teach it to regard war as a relic from the past and to substitute law in its place.

THE WATER ROUTE TO THE WEST

For those who this summer are intent upon seeing the glories of Jasper National Park, the Canadian Rockies or the Pacific Coast, traveling part of the way by water makes a delightful break in the long journey.

By rail to Sarnia, thence to Port Arthur aboard the luxurious steamers of the Northern Navigation Company, the traveller loses very little time and is amply repaid by the change of scene, cool lake breezes and social life aboard.

There is dancing every evening, concerts, sing-songs and promenading, not to mention the quiet hours reclining in a comfortable deck chair with a book or magazine. The cuisine is excellent and the state rooms rival the comfort of the great ocean liners.

Any agent of the Canadian National Railways or Northern Navigation Company will gladly give full particulars or illustrated booklet.

PALESTINE GOVERNMENT INCREASES IMMIGRATION QUOTA

Jerusalem (P.T.A.).—The quota for new arrivals in Palestine has been enlarged to-day by an order of the Government, granting 1,500 new visas for the next three months for skilled labourers and agricultural workers.

The recent industrial and agricultural development in Palestine has been of such a progressive tendency that the unemployment which was prevalent several months ago has been considerably relieved.

ANNIVERSARY OF HERZL'S DEATH TO BE DAY OF NATIONAL REMEMBRANCE

Jerusalem (P.T.A.).—The headquarters of the Jewish National Fund has issued an appeal to Jewry to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the death of Herzl, which occurs on Tammuz 20th (July 22nd) as a day of national remembrance. The 20th of Tammuz, the appeal says, ceases now to be a day of mourning. The Jewish youth should hold on this day gatherings, sports meetings, rambles, etc. Artists, writers and actors should take part in the celebrations.

VAAD LEUMI ARRANGING RECEPTION FOR BIALIK AND OTHER WRITERS

Jerusalem (P.T.A.).—An official reception in honour of Chaim Nachman Bialik, the Hebrew poet-laureate, and the other Jewish writers who arrived here recently, is being arranged by the Vaad Leumi, the national council of Palestinian Jews. Many prominent speakers addressed the meeting, held for the purpose of arranging the reception, yesterday. The audience, at the same time, took occasion to honour the memory of Lord Byron, by rising from their seats for a few minutes.

7,000,000 GERMANS VOTE ANTI-SEMITIC TICKET

Berlin (J.T.A.).—That 7,000,000 Germans voted the anti-Semitic ticket during the recent Reichstag elections in Germany was the assertion made yesterday by Ober Regierungs Rat Dr. Goslar, the prominent Jewish leader and Zionist. This fact, he declared, is an indication that dark times are approaching for the Jews of Germany, and it is, therefore, necessary to put up a united Jewish front in order to be able to combat the attacks of the anti-Semites upon the citizenship rights of the Jewish people in Germany.

SOCIALIST DEPUTY RIDICULES ANTI-SEMITES IN GERMAN REICHSTAG

Berlin (J.T.A.).—A heated scene was enacted in the Reichstag yesterday when representatives of the Voelkische Partei indulged in a rain of insults upon the Jews.

Replying to this anti-Semitic manifestation, the Socialist Deputy Loebe declared that he did not see any reason for the excitement of the Voelkische Partei against the Jews at a time when they themselves do not refrain from asking help of the Jews when they find it necessary. Loebe revealed the fact that the leaders of the Voelkische group, Graefe and Henning, had asked the head of the political police, Mr. Wiess, a Jew, to protect the idol of the Voelkische Partei, General Ludendorff.

DENIAL MADE THAT SAMUEL'S CONTINUATION IN OFFICE WILL BE DISCUSSED

London (J.T.A.).—Authoritative circles here deny the report which appeared in the English press a few days ago that during Sir Herbert Samuel's coming visit in London the question of his continuation as the High Commissioner of Palestine will be discussed.

It is stated that Sir Herbert Samuel takes his annual vacation in England, and that there is no special significance attached to his intended visit this year.

USSISHKIN GREETED WITH ROTTEN EGGS BY ANTI-SEMITIC STUDENTS IN KISHINEFF

Berlin (J.T.A.).—M. M. Ussishkin, Executive Director of the Jewish National Fund, who left Palestine for the purpose of touring the European countries in the interests of the Fund, arrived to-day in Kishineff, the capital of Bessarabia, now under Roumanian rule.

According to reports received from Kishineff many prominent Jews came to the station to extend a welcome to Mr. Ussishkin. The welcome was, however, marred by the appearance of anti-Semitic students, who threw decayed vegetables and rotten eggs at the visitor, exclaiming "Jews go to Palestine."

FUTURE OF JEWISH LIFE IN AMERICA WILL BE DISCUSSED AT JEWISH TEACHERS' CONFERENCE

New York (J.T.A.).—"What is the future of Jewish life in America? Is it normal and can be left to its natural course, or is it a mere transitory stage of the Diaspora life and should be artificially stimulated?" will be the subject discussed by Prof. M. Kaplan, Principal of the Teachers' Institute of New York, at the annual conference of the Jewish Teachers' Association which will be held here on June 20th at the Society for the Advancement of Judaism.

The conference in which Jewish teachers from various states will participate, will devote its sessions to the discussion of the practical and theoretic problems of Jewish religious instruction. A good part of the deliberations will be devoted to the best methods of teaching Jewish ethics in the Sunday and Hebrew schools of the country. Dr. Henry Neuman, the leader of the Brooklyn Society for Ethical Culture, will be the principal

POLISH EMIGRATION OFFICE BARS JEWS FROM AMERICAN QUOTA, SENATOR CHARGES

Warsaw (J.T.A.).—Grave charges against the Polish Official Emigration Office were made yesterday by Senator Rotenstreich. The Senator stated that the Emigration Office purposely delayed the affidavits for America of the Jewish applicants for such a period that the Polish quota was exhausted by the Christian Poles, making it impossible for them to obtain visas for America.

He also stated that the Polish agencies of the steamship companies were advised in a semi-official way to discharge their Jewish personnel and to substitute them with Christians.

The statements of Senator Rotenstreich, which were made to the Budget Commissioner of the Diet, have caused a sensation.

Refreshing- and Wonderful to Taste

The blended essence of choice good things grown in the tropic sunshine of far-away lands—

Coca-Cola!—of course!—sealed in a sterilized glass package that protects its goodness and purity.

"Delicious and refreshing" describes it, but it is inimitable. Not from one vine or one tree, but a blend of pure products from nature's storehouse, it has a flavor all its own—a blend so delicate that you cannot distinguish one flavor from another. It is sweet with the sweetness of pure cane sugar, but it has a tartness, a faint sharpness, a gratifying piquancy. As it sparkles you get a hint of bouquet. Thirst is your natural capacity to enjoy it.
